

Entrepreneurship & Leadership for Sustainable Development

The “4 frames” model describes entrepreneurial competence for sustainable development as follows: Entrepreneurship is a task, competence and responsibility for processes and products of the enterprise, that is acting within the framework of economy, society and environment, in consideration of efficiency, best practices, education and values, and sustainability.

If “Entrepreneurship” is substituted by “Leadership” the model is applicable for any organization.

© Henning Stocks, 2012/2013. All rights reserved.